Dear

Imagine me a graduate nurse!!
There are times when I don't believe in myself and have to glance down at my white uniform for further proof that I am a "white nurse".

It seems like such a long time since I passed through the portals of Hahnemann for the first time. How well I remember that day. I arrived at 245 North 15th Street, lock, stock and baggage to make my way up the front steps alone. What a hard time I had trying to open that huge front door. (Of course my nervousness had nothing to do with the difficulty what-so-ever.) Once inside the door, I was greeted by the Welcoming Staff, relieved of my luggage and taken into the library to meet the Directress of Nurses.

OFFICE STAFF

After I had met the Administration, I was introduced to the Nursing Office Staff, which included the Misses Hakansson, Potts and Pettit and Mrs. Eddy and Mrs. McCuen.

THE FACULTY

The following day marked the beginning of my never-to-be forgotten pre-clinical days. That day I met the faculty, Miss Jones, Miss Giordano, Miss Lowe, Miss Coventree, Miss Kent and Mr. Courchaine.

All aches, pains and broken bones were reported to Miss Strakay, who in turn, turned the case over to her consultant, Dr. Gouldin.

PROBIES

Bacillus Anthrax, dissection of a frog, neurons, sternocleidomastoid, Mrs. Chase, cardinal symptoms, shock, decubitus ulcers, chemical equations, erythema . . . o-o-o-oh my aching head. We really crammed a lot of knowledge into our 'lil' heads . . . especially between 8-10 p.m. And then came the day we anticipated, yet dreaded . . . the first day on the wards. Patience is a virtue, isn't it, my dear instructors? "People stop and stare, it's so hard to bear" . . . yes, folks, we were the new probies.

Yes, we were the tenants of Probie Hall for five months. We had our fun, and we made our share of noise. But we weren't always noisy!! No, indeedly . . . A golden silence reigned over the entire row every night prior to exams.

And then came the day we lived and prayed for . . . "Capping".

And now, with a clean, white, starched cap resting on our newly permanented curls, we were called FRESHMEN . . . and with that we started eight hour duty on the wards. Medical, Surgical, Diet Kitchen and Semi-Private floors, here we come.

The corn on the small toe of my right foot I owe all to Surgical, while the one on my left foot developed whilst traipsing the light fantasia on Medical, ably guided by Miss Raymond and her Head Nurses, the Misses Eshleman and McKenna and Mrs. Fisher. The lump in my throat dislodged itself after having witnessed my second paracentesis, and I no longer cringed with fear when I heard a doctor's voice say he was going to do a lumbar puncture. Ah!! What a wonderful teacher experience is. She should get a raise.

After spending the required amount of time on Medical, I soon left the fair department and traveled southward to the fifth floor,

Surgical, where I was welcomed by Mrs. Martin, the Supervisor, and her staff of Head Nurses, Mrs. Sloss, Mrs. Schaefer and Miss McGinley . . . Thoracoplasty . . . Lobectomy . . . Cholecystectomy . . . Herniorrhaphy . . . Gastric Resection . . . everything is found on Surgical. With orientation to the floor and instructions on the pre and post-operative care of patients, I soon found myself feeling as though I knew what I was doing.

In due time, I was sent to the Diet Kitchens to work (and gain weight). The Misses Purtell, Rogers and Joslyn were very patient with all of us and some of the girls even got an opportunity to show what good cooks they really were. Though, personally, it's all I can do to boil water without burning it.

Upon completion of my Diet Kitchen experiences, with band-aids on my fingers to protect the cuts and burns, I staggered to a new department . . . Semi-Private floors . . . The eighth floor being capably run by the Misses Miller and Russell, and the ninth floor staffed by Miss Simpson and her Head Nurses Miss Kegerize and Miss Rosenquist.

Naturally, we met the interns during our course of travels. Many a time we struggled by their side over a venoclysis or a cutdown or a redressing carrier. And how about all that time spent trying to decipher one of their orders written on a chart? O-o-oh that handwriting.

Whee-e-e . . . White shoes and stockings here we come. We've successfully completed one year of training and now we're JUNIORS. But that didn't stop our travels through the hospital; it merely extended them. Northward bound to Orthopedics, where I finally had an opportunity to autograph a cast, with Miss Teller and Mrs. Heck there to supervise me, and then downstairs to the seventh floor to learn all about Gynecology from Mrs. Leman.

'Round about this time we were a little suspicious of what was to come next on our schedule, and that was the dreaded and feared Operating Room. How we ever lived through that first day is beyond me. Oh, my aching back!! But that fear soon wore off, and after four or five weeks we began to feel at home, and were actually able to find the "white table by the green shelves behind the gray sink in back of the amphitheater" with the guidance of Miss Hervey and Miss Young.

After nine weeks of O.R., we were prepared for Obstetrics. Instructed by Miss Deakyne and Miss Davies, we devoted our time to momma and her off-spring.

Now we were ready for our black bands, which were awarded for our two years good conduct.

Being Seniors, we were granted more privileges, and among them Affiliations. We were given our choice of either three months at Friends Mental Hospital or two months at the Philadelphia Hospital for Contagious Diseases. Which would it be, dimentia prae-cox or scarlet fever?

Both hospitals offer beautiful surroundings and a peaceful environment.

Those students who affiliated at Muni told stories of their mad excursions up the brick-streets of Philadelphia in the ambulances, and those long journeys up the second floor ramp-way to the wards; while those who affiliated at Friends boast of their ability to handle an irrational patient and their expertness in giving a cold pack under the most difficult circumstances. (Yes, nurse, they've got me here because they think I'm crazy, but you and I are the only two that know I'm not. Hm-m-m-m???)

After Affiliations, we traipsed back to Ye Olde Alma Mater to resume our studies in our own classrooms and to grasp an opportunity to make use of that extra late leave every week granted only to Seniors.

Many of our nights during our Senior year were spent working on the Private Floors with either Miss Marcelonis, Miss Jones or Miss Connors to greet us with a cheery "good morning" bright and early every morn, and with the Misses Fluck, Fritz and Strock keeping the vigil over us throughout the night. The nights were sometimes long and dragged out, and our eyes would have a tendency to droop a little and our head tend to fall to one side in a light doze, but that was all absent on the cold nights when the north wind would howl around the west corner of the building, banging the doors, flapping the window shades, and upsetting the flowers in the dark, dismal corridors; and above all awakening the patients, who were sent back to Dreamland with the aid of a little red or yellow capsule.

We accumulated some helpful experience in the Out-Patient Department . . . Over in the Clinics with Miss Fine; draping patients, assisting the doctors and medical students with examinations, listening to their problems and tales of woe (as if I didn't have enough on my mind) and so referring them back to clinic in another week or so. Two weeks were spent working in the Admission Room under Mrs. Bringham (who shared honors with Mr. Anthony. Now my problem is . . .) and occasionally slipping over to the Accident Ward to witness or to assist with some unusual case brought in. Maybe it would be a simple stab wound through the heart or a bi-chloride of mercury poisoning or slashed wrists or maybe just a plain D.O.A.

For three months I was doing things in a small way and hearing lots of small talk . . . "I wants to go home . . . Where's my mommy? . . . I want my mommy . . . Read me a story . . . Don't give me that needle . . . But I don't want to eat that . . . My mommy doesn't make me eat that at home . . . What are you doing that for nurse? . . . Leave the lights on, don't turn them off . . . I don't want to go to bed yet . . . I want some candy . . . Can I have a dolly? . . . Nurse, I gotta— . . . I wants to color in that there book he's got over there, and anyway, it's mine . . . I want an orange, and can I have a drink of water and a glass of chocolate milk, and a taffy and some cookies . . ." And so, on it goes, never ending until you yourself leave the department and cease to hear it.

Life is never dull in Accident Ward, though sometimes life ends here, and on certain occasions life begins there.

Another part of our Senior year was spent working on Pediatrics, where Miss Elwell taught us the care and feeding of children and many of us learned by experience that you never "prop" a baby's bottle when feeding. (Didn't I?) For baby's pause that refreshes, those two weeks we spent in Formula Room preparing tidbits for the little ones were fun. Sometimes, as usual, we made an excessive amount of noise, and the familiar sign would be put up on the bulletin board by one of the dietitians . . . "A woman's charm is not her beauty but her voice." Silence reigned again . . . Was that a pin you just dropped?? . . . Crash!! . . . Oops!! . . . Just a few minutes while I get a dust pan and brush. Well kiddies, what'll it be today?? Similac or Dextrin-Maltose? Both

CLASS SPONSOR

With Mrs. Bunt as the Class Sponsor, what Senior Class wouldn't have a busy year? What with the Card Party, the Peach Festival, the Banquet given in honor of the preceding graduating class and above all the Christmas Dance held in Klahr Auditorium which kept every one on the run for many weeks prior to the dance (and even kept some running for weeks after the dance.) But the result of all the hard labor was well worth the time and energy spent.

What with the familiar sound of voices and shouting outside the door of room No. 349, and the sound of pans clattering, bread wrappers being removed and money being dropped inside the cash register, one could almost tell without further questioning, that Goebleman's Grocery Store had re-opened for the season under the direction of Mr. Goebleman's personal representative, Jennie March. Each night would find Jennie there doing her bit to keep business rolling as usual, and each day would find her beating the path to her competitor's door looking for "specials" that she could offer her customers. How many times a week that familiar "Help Wanted" sign used to go up, especially just on the night you wanted to go to the movies or had something extra special planned.

Along with our thanks to Mrs. Bunt for her timely hints and helpful suggestions, we'd like to add a note of appreciation to Jennie March, and were it possible, award her the Distinguished Cross for services beyond the line of duty.

CLASS WILL

Know all men by these presents that we, the Graduating Class of 1946, being of sound mind and body, do, in a sudden fit of soft heartedness and generosity, hereby and hereon, make this our last will and testament.

We, the aforesaid attorneys, Blackstone, Blackston, and Black, Esquires, for the Class of 1946, hereby and whereas, etc., etc., do draw up and write down for them their last will and testament (do not confuse with tests of any kind, written or otherwise) according to law 293,096 in the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania, and having as witnesses none other than Joe Stem and Mary Twig, we said attorneys, Blackstone, Blackston and Black, with a lump in our throat and a tear in our eye make the following bequests:

To Miss Grant, our Director of Nursing, we leave our sincere appreciation for the unselfish aid which she has given so generously at all times and our fondest hope that she will always remember our class with pride. We are indeed happy to have had such an understanding counselor and guide.

To Mrs. Bergfels, we leave our dreams of a new modernistic nurses home, fully equipped with all the conveniences of home. She can also have all our unclaimed mail, flowers and food on the outside window sill.

To Mrs. McMullen, we leave a new bell to replace the one that rings at 10 p.m. (or should we say the one that is supposed to ring at 10 p.m.) We also leave her the midnight oil that's always burning, especially around exam time. While we're leaving things, we might as well throw in a jeweler to synchronize all the clocks so everyone comes in on time.

To Mrs. Richter, we leave all the glasses, plates and silverware found in our rooms upon housecleaning. (Hm-m-m-m, I wonder how they got there?) Also all empty milk bottles, food scraps, chipped dishes, etc., that are found around the cafeteria, secure in the knowledge that she will dispose of them better than we did.

To all future probies, we leave the tennis courts on Seventeenth St., the swimming pool next door, the dictophone located over in

"probie hall" and the exclusive roof garden.

To all underclassmen, who are looking for a class advisor, we heartily recommend Miss Meehan, who so capably filled in for Mrs. Bunt when she left.

To both Mrs. Bunt and Miss Meehan, we leave our deepest respect and heartfelt sympathy, together with all heated arguments, unsettled disputes and unfinished plans. May they ever cherish the memory of our bright, gleaming, happy 'lil faces, both here and there.

To Mr. Minter, we leave all our left over sugar coupons and our hopes that the meat shortage will soon be over.

To Mrs. Bringhurst, we leave a completely equipped delousing system for the Admission Room. We believe that this will be greatly appreciated both by Mrs. Bringhurst and the patients.

To Dr. Plummer, we leave all broken syringes that were dropped by accident, during our course of training, hoping that he will give his approval and replace them.

To the Eighth Floor, we leave a new floor to replace the old one we wore out from our frequent trips to and fro' Nursing Office. (You think we're kiddin'.)

To the entire Faculty, we leave a fond farewell. We know they did their best to instill a bit of learning into us.

Drawn up, written down, sworn to, declared and submitted this umpteenth day of Jummer, nineteen hundred and forty six, Anno Domini, to which hereunto and on, we affix our signatures and seals.

NIGHTINGALES

Beautiful must be the mountains whence ye come,
And bright in the fruitful valleys the streams where from Ye learn your song:
Where are those starry woods? O might I wander there,
Among the flowers, which in that heavenly air
Bloom the year long!
Nay, barren are those mountains, and spent the streams:
Our song is the voice of desire, that haunts our dreams,
A throe of the heart,
Whose pining visions dim, forbidden hopes profound,
No dying cadence nor long sigh can sound,
For all our art.
Alone, aloud in the raptured ear of men
We pour our dark nocturnal secret; and then,
As night is withdrawn
From these sweet-springing meads and bursting boughs of May,
Dream, while the innumerable choir of day
Welcome the dawn.

—ROBERT BRIDGES

Our own singing
"Nightingales" under the leadership of Miss E.
Morgan.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

Those hurried trips over to Rube's to snatch a coke . . . Those infrequent visits to the Infirmary . . . Signing in . . . Sign-out . . . Miss Jones, you have a visitor downstairs . . . Ho hum . . . "

Did you ever stop to think that during the course of a day in the hospital, some one is having a prescription filled at the Pharmacy and someone else is giving nursing care to an orthopedic patient, while someone else is checking her assignment in the Operating Room, and another person is biding her time by feeding an infant, someone else is preparing to give a sedation to a patient in need, and a patient is being aspirated and having his apex taken and someone else to busy showing off a baby to some proud poppa . . . all those things that as a probie you were looking forward to, and who knows but one of those persons might even be you . . .

DEDICATION

When we entered Hahnemann's portals, the word doctor meant a variety of things. He was a revered pill dispatcher, a skilled wielder of the blade, an interpreter of the foreign noises heard through the stethoscope, or the first assistant to the bird with the long legs.

Time passed, and the word became deeper and fuller in meaning. He was also our teacher, friend, and adviser in both professional and non-professional matters. We learned to know him as a master of his art, a versatile personality, and a true friend. To him we humbly dedicate the 1946 Vigil; for without his smile of confidence when we were suffering from an excess of synovial fluid in the patellar area, without his nod of certainty in a tense moment, without his kind explanations of pathological conditions, without the joke exchanged at the desk, we certainly would have found the journey toward our goal almost beyond our reach.

Thus to all of you who have guided our path, we extend our sincere gratitude.

Compliments and Best Wishes

from

A FRIEND

When earth's last microbe has frinked, when the catast lies twisted and dried, when all carbolfuchs in has faded and the youngest patient has died, we shall sleep, and faith we shall need it! Lie down for an aeon or two, till the Masker of all good nurses shall call us to work anew. And we who were cross shall be happy, have plenty of sunshine and air, use all the gauge that is needed, with no one to watch or to care. We shall have real saints to work on — Magdalene, Peter and Paul, who shall sleep all night without hypos and have no hysterics at all. And only the Masker shall praise us, and only the Masker shall blame, and no one shall work for money, and no one shall work for fame.
But each for the joy of working, and each in her separate star shall see the divine in her patients and love them, just as they are.

Sincerely,
The Staff
